次の(1)～(10)に(a)～(e)から最も適当と思われるものを選びなさい。

A Rhyme of English Rhymes

(Please note: sometimes pairs of rhymes are given in the order A...B: A' and B', that is, cat and dog rhyme with bat and log.)

When it's English that we speak

Why is break not rhymed with (1)?

Because they rhyme with (2) and leak.

We say cow and that rhymes with how.

But (3) doesn't rhyme with allow,

Because they rhyme with owe and bough.

Now here's another one for you:

Beard does not sound similar to (4),

Because they rhyme with (5) and bird.

We have (6) that rhymes with bud,

Food that rhymes with (7),

And good that rhymes with could.

Are you surprised to know

That (8) rhymes with hose,

And nose and (9) and goes?

And, what's more,

Horse sounds like course,

And worse sounds like (10)

次の詩を読み、(51)~(60)に当てはまる語句としてもっとも適切なものを(a)~(k)から1つ選びなさい。選択肢には1つ余分な語句が含まれている。

World Citizen

There goes one baby's life

It's such a small amount

She's un-American

I guess it doesn't (51)

Six thousand children's lives

Were simply thrown away

Lost without medicine

Inside of thirty days

In the New York harbour

Where the stock's withheld

It was the price we (52)

For a safer world

World is suffering

World is suffering

World is suffering

World citizen

In Madhya Pradesh

Where they're building dams

They're (53) native

people

From their homes and lands

So they hunger strike

Cos they believe they count

To lose a single life

Is such a small amount

In the name of (54)

And democracy

The concepts represented in name only

His world is suffering

Her world is suffering

Their world is suffering

World citizen

World citizen

And the buildings fall

In a cloud of dust

And we ask ourselves

How could they hate us?

Well, when we live in ignorance and luxury

While our super powers

(55)

Puppet mastery

We raise the men

Who run the fascist states

And we sell them arms

So they maintain their place

We (56) our backs

On the things they done

Their human rights record

And the guns they run

His world is suffering

Her world is suffering

Their world is suffering

World citizen

My world is suffering

Your world is suffering

Our world is suffering

World citizen

Who'll (57) away with flags?

Who'll do us proud?

Remove the money from their pockets

Scream dissent out loud?

Cos god ain't on our side

The shoe won't (58)

And though they think the war is won

That's not the last of it

Disenfranchised people

Need their voices (59)

And if no one stops to listen

Lose their faith in words

And violence rises

When all hope is (60)

Who'll embrace the human spirit

And absorb the cost?

Not one life is taken

In my name

In my name

His world is suffering

Her world is suffering

Their world is suffering

World citizen

My world is suffering

Your world is suffering

Our world is suffering

World citizen
